Gov. Faubus Turns Down Subpoena

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 19 (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus, taking the offensive, struck back at the federal government today with two last-minute legal actions before Friday's crucial court hearing on his use of the National Guard to bar Negroes from a Little Rock high school.

First, he refused to honor a federal subpoena summoning him to court as a witness in a suit involving four recently passed Arkansas segregation laws.

A few hours later, his attorneys moved to disqualify U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald Davies—scheduled to hear the National Guard case tomorrow—on grounds that Davies is prejudiced against Faubus.

Davies himself will have to rule on the motion to disqualify.

Question Reporters asked Faubus if, having flouted one subpoena, he will obey the second, summoning him to court tomorrow.

"You just wait and see," the governor replied.

He was smiling, almost casual in his manner. He gave the impression of a man untroubled by the events swirling furiously around his head.

The Arkansas Democrat reported, in a copyrighted story today, that if Davies orders Faubus to withdraw the guardsmen from Central High School in tomorrow's hearing, the governor will obey.

Then, the Democrat said, he will wash his hands of all responsibility for any violence—which he has predicted from the first—that may break out in Little Rock.

He will also carry his fight to a higher court, the newspaper said, by appealing to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

Supreme Court And if necessary, he will go all the way to the Supreme Court, the report said, in an all-out fight for the rights of the states as against the powers of the federal government.

The subpoena that Faubus defied ordered him to appear before a three-judge panel in a suit brought by 10 Negro ministers. They asked the judges to set aside legislation, passed this year by the state Legislature, to preserve segregation in Arkansas schools.

Faubus was subpoenaed merely as a witness in his capacity of the chief executive who signed the four anti-integration measures into law. However, he also is named as a defendant in the suit because he is ex-officio chairman of the State Sovereignty Commission.

The judges granted a motion to postpone the hearing on this suit. A somewhat similar suit is due for a hearing in a state court. They put back any further federal hearing, pending the outcome there.

In refusing to obey the summons to the hearing on the suit brought by the 10 ministers, Faubus told the court in a letter: "Almost from the very beginning of our Republic, it has been uniformly held that the chief executive is not compelled to comply with a subpoena unless he chooses to do so."

"In this particular case, because of the obvious ulterior motive of those who obtained the subpoena, I do not choose to comply with it."

There was no immediate indication in federal court as to whether action may be taken to punish Faubus for denying its authority to come to court.

Bureau To Reconsider WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Bureau of Public Roads announced today it is reconsidering its approval for the relocating of Route 11 between Scranton and Harrisburg, Pa.

A bureau spokesman said a review was being conducted to determine whether the presently approved route or one west of the Susquehanna River is better from the standpoint of both local and national interests.

Commissioners Unable To Supply Zone Funds

COUNTY Commissioners yesterday expressed agreement that some form of planning is needed in Monroe County.

But, at the same time, Commissioners said that they have no money available with which to underwrite the cost of a planning-zoning commission.

Commissioners later went on record favoring cooperation with the proposed planning group as much as possible and in "every way we can."

The three men volunteered clerical assistance from within their offices when such facilities or service would prove valuable to the planning group.

Commission chairman John R. Lesosine said that "unfortunately, the county does not have the funds at present to allow the planning commission to hire outside consultants," Lesosine continued.

"But we feel that the group can and perhaps should start with preliminary ideas on its own goals and aims within the area. We feel that these theories and proposed techniques should be as fully developed as possible by local men."

"The planning commission has a group of highly intelligent and capable men serving on it. Each of them undoubtedly has good and well thought-out constructive ideas for area planning."

"Let's let them get started on this. Let's get an organization set up and clarify the ideas and goals of the proposed commission as an active group before we start spending $12,000 or more a year for a consulting firm."

Commissioners emphasized that they are not opposed to the basic principles of county-wide planning. Such planning, Lesosine said, will produce good results for the people of the county if it is conducted on a sound, thorough basis. Commissioners spent most of their regular meeting time yesterday morning on the planning subject.

Their comments were made in discussion of a letter forwarded to them by George T. Robinson, local attorney, associated with the planning group. (Please Turn to Page 3)

Dulles Accuses Russia Of Risking War With Threats

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today accused the Soviet Union of risking war by threatening Turkey and building up Communist arms in Syria.

He charged the Soviets with engaging in acts apparently aimed at impairing the freedom and independence of some Middle East nations, and called upon the United Nations to take up the situation.

Dulles made the statements in a major policy speech of 25 minutes delivered to the 82-nation U. N. General Assembly. It dwelt mainly on the Middle East and disarmament.

Dulles said the Soviet Union had no monopoly on use of outer space—an apparent reference to Soviet claims of having the intercontinental ballistic missile.

Discovery "The Soviet Union has announced it has discovered ways to use outer space to wreak vast destruction anywhere," Dulles declared. "That is no new discovery."

The United States, too, knows how that can be done. Our task now is to see that it is not done."

Dulles said Soviet action in the Middle East constituted a violation of a U. N. resolution calling for member nations to refrain from intimidating other countries, and the General Assembly "ought at least to discuss it."

He added that the United States "reserves the right, in the light of that discussion, to introduce concrete proposals."

A U. S. delegation spokesman said the United States had no firm proposals ready at this time, nor any specific Middle East issue to submit for U. N. discussion.

Syria has said it may bring charges in the U. N. of aggression against the United States. A Syrian spokesman said his country's foreign minister, Salah Bitar, will no doubt reply to Dulles in Syria's policy speech next week.

Money To Be Used For Buying Land

THE GENERAL State Authority in Harrisburg yesterday accepted the recommendation of its priorities committee allocating $118,000 to East Stroudsburg State Teachers College for land acquisition in connection with future construction and rounding out college campuses.

The local recommendation was among $1,000,000 approved by the GSA.

Other colleges and the amounts allocated included Bloomsburg STC, $95,000; Clarion, $75,000; Edinboro, $75,000; Indiana, $125,000; California, $75,000; Lock Haven, $51,000; Mansfield, $100,000, and Slippery Rock, $21,000.

Construction The GSA also allocated 26 1/2 million dollars for plans and actual construction of projects for state buildings, hospitals and schools.

Auditor Gen. Charles C. Smith immediately described the action as "a mortgage on the future." He predicted the 1959 Legislature will have to increase the borrowing capacity of the GSA by 10 to 20 million dollars.

The 12-member agency, divided between Republicans and Democrats, wrangled for two hours in the presence of newsmen on the controversial report of the priorities committee.

The report was adopted with only two dissenting votes—Smith and Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican floor leader.

It was the second session opened to the press and a half hour of bitter argument took place before the board formally voted to open its executive sessions.

Mahany made the motion after describing the executive session as "only a rehearsal." He said Gov. Leader erred in intimating that Republican members had opposed opening the executive meeting to newsmen although this type of session is not covered by the new 1957 open meetings law.

Angered Leader, obviously angered, said Mahany misquoted him and insisted that as governor and chairman "I won't hold my peace if you insist on misquoting me."

Rep. Albert S. Readinger, House Democratic floor leader, was the only person to vote against the Mahany motion. He said the presence of newsmen at executive sessions tended to restrict "full and free discussion without inhibitions."

Other allocations approved: Facilities for special education of teachers of retarded children, including rooms at state teachers colleges and Pennsylvania State University—$1,200,000.

Connellsville State Hospital, one million dollars, construction to add 50 beds to the hospital.

Shamokin State Hospital, $500,000 construction to 35 beds and operating room to hospital.

Bank Of England Ups Interest Rate

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Bank of England raised its interest rate today to 7 per cent—a 31-year-high—in a belt-tightening aimed at limiting inflation and saving the pound sterling from devaluation. The old rate was 5 per cent.

Virtually every financial institution in the country, from neighborhood branch banks on up, will increase their rates accordingly.

Prices nose-dived on the stock exchange in the first confused reaction. Millions of Britons faced up to higher mortgage and installment-buying payments. Industrialists predicted many employers would be hard hit and some workers would lose their jobs.

Demand Demanding in effect that Britons cut their own spending and ship more goods abroad to earn gold and dollar backing for the sterling system, Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft declared.

"It will not be possible to check the rising cost of living and to maintain the worth of sterling if we try to spend more or live better than our resources allow or our production justifies."

Thorneycroft said that although an increase in the interest rate was required to check inflation "in any event," the most immediate necessity was to relieve the sterling system of speculative pressure.

Speculators have converted millions of pounds to German marks in recent months on the chance that the mark might be revalued upward, leaving a tidy profit on the exchange. Emphatic denials by the German government that revaluation is being contemplated slowed but did not check the flight from the pound.

With Britain's gold and dollar reserves hovering near what many economists say is the danger mark, there has been widespread speculation that a currency adjustment might be made.

Department Issues Order WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Justice Department today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to reject all private claims for compensation in connection with the attempted reorganization of the New York, Ontario and Western Railway Co., now out of business.

The ICC ruled more than a year ago that there was no feasible way to reorganize the company for continued operation, and dismissed a 20-year bankruptcy proceeding. The company was then liquidated and its physical assets sold.

Attorneys Subsequently, attorneys and reorganization experts for the trustees and creditors, who worked with ICC in seeking a workable reorganization plan, asked ICC to approve their plans for compensation for services and expenses totaling $241,270.25.

The Justice Department contended in a brief submitted to the commission that no one should be paid anything because the proceeding did not result in a reorganization and because, it contended, some of the claimants had performed no service for the bankrupt company.

Incodel Makes Plea For Watershed Association

POCONO MANOR — The annual Incodel conference closed here yesterday noon with a strong plea for a watershed association which could speak for all sections of the Delaware River Basin.

Col. Allen F. Clark Jr., Philadelphia District Engineer, told delegates from Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware that an agency "not under Federal control" must be organized to represent the entire basin.

This recommendation was endorsed by speakers from 10 watershed groups in the Middle Atlantic States region. Included were delegates from the Lackawanna, Neeshaminy, Paulskill, Stony Brook, Wisahicklen, Red Clay Valley, Tobickon Creek, Middle Atlantic States and Brandywine associations.

Primary purpose of such a group would be to serve as an information-clearance center and liaison between the Corps of Engineers, the various river development groups and the public.

One of the main themes of Col. Clark's comments and those of Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., the main conference speaker, was that if efforts to develop the river are to be successful the whole idea of a comprehensive plan for the Delaware must be "sold" to the people.

Dr. Maurice K. Goddard was the final conference speaker. His task was to summarize all the reports and developments brought out by the three-day meeting.

Supreme Court And if necessary, he will go all the way to the Supreme Court, the report said, in an all-out fight for the rights of the states as against the powers of the federal government.

Suit Filed To Halt Election

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—A federal court suit to block the election of new officers by the Teamsters Union was filed today by a group of New York City area members who charged fraud.

The plaintiffs claimed that more than 80 per cent of the delegates to the union's convention, scheduled to start Sept. 30 at Miami Beach, have been handpicked by James R. Hoffa and other Teamsters officials to "rig" Hoffa's election to the Teamsters' presidency.

Vacation Bureau Spends $13,531 In Advertising Campaign

Major Report Shows 13,121 Inquiries

THE POCONO Mountains Vacation Bureau spent $13,530.92 in newspaper and magazine advertising through August of this year, the annual report revealed yesterday.

A total of 13,121 inquiries resulted from these advertisements for a cost of $1.03 for each inquiry.

Newspaper advertising during the same period amounted to $12,645.92, compared to $12,251.30 in 1956, or $1.15 for each of the 11,004 keyed inquiries received.

The report shows that the bureau's 64-page brochure cost $14,700 to print and approximately $2,000 for mailing costs, while advertising income received and due amounted to $13,070. Net cost of the brochure was $3,630, compared to a total cost for the 1956 booklet—without advertising—of $7,883.91.

The report states that almost 20,000 copies of the 1957 brochure are still in stock and will be used in servicing inquiries throughout the remainder of the year.

Estimation

Estimated cost of the 1958 brochure will be $12,266, or $2,500 less than the 1957 booklet.

A net profit of $2,795.43 was realized on the eighth annual hotel and restaurant show, half of which went to the local bureau and the remainder to the Northeastern Pennsylvania Recreation Assn.

A total of 96 booth spaces were available and all were sold, the report shows.

The show was attended by an estimated 3,000 persons, with more than 1,000 of them appearing on the first day.

Cost of the Wind Gap vacation bureau information booth was listed at $746.91 from May 28 through Aug. 31 with a total of 1,470 persons stopping there.

The Delaware Water Gap booth cost $1,632.17 to operate during the same period. In addition, its construction cost $2,834.52 and improvements to date came to $625 for a total of $3,459.52. There were 10,299 persons who stopped there.

The Wind Gap booth has been in operation for almost 10 years, while the Delaware Water Gap booth was authorized and built in 1956, but completed too late for operation that year.

Extra curricular promotions included the Pocono Mountains sports car road race at a cost of $1,000; Powder Puff Derby, $600; Pennsylvania Sportsman's Show, $435.25; Hartford Travel Show, $155.64, and miscellaneous promotion, photos and publicity, $74.04.

The report showed disbursements of $35,518.80 to Aug. 31, with income of $34,787.72 and a cash balance on Aug. 31 of $73.93.

Accounts receivable were listed as $14,726, of which $13,346 was declared collectible, while accounts payable amounted to $13,344.58.

New officers of the bureau are LeRoy Guccini, president; Elwood Huffman, first vice president; Walter Fossa, second vice president; and J. Horace Struck, elected secretary.

The officers were installed by Edward C. Jenkins, owner of the Skyline Inn where the meeting was held. Jenkins was the founder and first president of the bureau.

He conducted the installation as a satire on the formality usually accompanying such ceremonies. Approximately 50 members attended the session.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said today that the United States months ago could have made the same claim the Russians did last August—that they had launched an inter-continental ballistic missile.

Wilson said the Russian claim probably was true. But, he added, "It didn't say much."

Quick denounced the idea that "some people seem to get in their heads" that "all you have to do is reach out and grab money for something like this."

"We have to set up a budget every year to operate the county and we have to live within that budget. If we don't have money in the budget for a certain thing, then there's no way we can give it out," he said.

"If we have money or we can get it when budget times comes around again, then I think we ought to consider this," he said. "But we can't do anything about it now."

"The work on our part to prepare such an application is considerable, and in order to file the application, we must have the assurance that local funds are available."

Suggestions: "I would like to suggest then that you explore the situation to determine the interest of the County Planning Commission and the Commissioners to undertake a program that would cost the county approximately $12,000 annually for a period of three years."

Chairman Lesoine asked the other two commissioners—Willard Quick and W. Adolph Rake—for their sentiments on the proposal.

Quick said he felt the idea of a planning group "may be fine" but that "we have nothing set aside in the budget for it now—and we can't see where it's going to come from."

Rake agreed. "I think that's the only way you can answer this request right at the moment," he said. Rake later urged that the county "try to encourage the planning commission if we possibly can."

Liljenstein Speaks To Rotary Club

OSCAR Liljenstein, head of the health and physical education department at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, discussed his recent trip to Europe at yesterday's meeting of the Stroudsburg Rotary Club in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Liljenstein visited England, Norway and Sweden during his three-month tour and spoke on his impressions of the countries.

He said the local college teaches the same courses taught in Swedish universities.

The speaker was introduced by James Kitson, program chairman.

Philadelphia Painter Denies Bribe Offers

SCRANTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Frank P. Laurelli, 46, a Philadelphia painter, today denied categorically that he had offered bribes to two government inspectors at the U. S. Army Signal Corps Depot at Tobyhanna.

Laurelli is the first of 15 defendants to go on trial following indictment by a federal grand jury in the probe of alleged labor and construction racketeering at the 34 million dollar depot.

The government charges Laurelli offered bribes to the inspectors for his employer, the John B. Kemmel Co., Philadelphia painting contractors.

Charges

Under direct examination by his attorney, G. Fred DiBona, Laurelli said that other than an occasional "hello," he never even had a conversation with the two inspectors, James O'Donnell and Paul Judge.

O'Donnell, the last government witness before the defense opened its case today, testified earlier that he was asked by Laurelli in late February or early March of 1954, to overlook omission of work in a contract by the Kemmel firm and that the bribe money offered was understood to have come from the company.

Laurelli was a superintendent for the Philadelphia paint firm at Tobyhanna during the period of construction.

Supporting Civil Defense

Attention to the public is once again being focused on Monroe County's disaster preparedness program during the second annual National Civil Defense Week, currently in progress.

We are an optimistic people—we do not expect a nuclear war any time soon nor do we ever expect another flood or hurricane (or other disaster) to strike our area.

Yet, so long as these possibilities exist, we would be foolish not to guide ourselves accordingly.

Therefore, during Civil Defense

Week, let us make a special effort to evaluate our personal knowledge of disaster preparedness techniques as well as our community's emergency capabilities.

The need for governmental ability—governments on all levels—to survive and operate effectively under extreme emergency conditions is obvious.

So let us, too, resolve this week to individually and collectively support our governmental Civil Defense authorities to the fullest extent. Can we, as good citizens, do less?

Growing Old Gracefully

Let's stop asking very old people how they have been able to achieve their longevity. They don't know, anyway, and often give some silly answer such as: "Well, I take a mint julep four times a day."

Extra years may be a happy time of life or not. So it is very much to the point to ask those who seem to enjoy their final years, who have grown old gracefully and cheerfully, how to do it. With more of us headed for ripe old age than ever before, that's a secret worth learning.

A 72 year old North Carolina physician, Dr. Wingate Johnson, tells in the Journal of the American Medical Association about his advice to his patients on this subject. And his first suggestion is to start preparing oneself in middle age for a rewarding and contented old age.

Keep from becoming an old fogey by associating with young people, he says. Be prepared for a few shocks but try to understand their viewpoint.

Keep in touch with old friends but make new ones, so you won't find yourself alone and lonely when old friends leave or die.

Cultivate wide interests. Learn to enjoy the less strenuous amusements.

Take life calmly, at an even pace. Think and talk about the present and the future, not the past.

And, we might add, let your grown children live their lives and raise your grandchildren as they think best. It will all add greatly to your peace of mind and happiness.

The results of this management can be seen in the "managed" dollar price for the $20 gold piece: $52.50.

Robert S. Allen Reports...

Limits On Life Span

By Dr. G. Bailey Hunt, Chief, Center for Research on Aging, National Institutes of Health

Washington, Sept. 16—Why do some living creatures have longer life spans than others?

This is one of the many questions that research in aging is attempting to answer.

In a recent talk at the National Institutes of Health, Professor F. Bourliere of the University of Paris discussed the differing life spans of man and other animals.

Some creatures, like certain turtles, Dr. Bourliere pointed out, live much longer than man. Their body temperature varies considerably. Man's does not. He has a kind of "automatic thermostat" that gives him the ability to maintain an internal temperature of 98.6 degrees.

His studies, Dr. Bourliere said, lead him to believe this may be one of the reasons for man's shorter life span.

When we think of research in aging, it is important to remember that we do not have answers to many of the basic biological questions.

Why do living things die? Why do they die when they do? Why does the probability of dying increase as age increases? Answers to these basic biological questions are needed if we are to carry on productive clinical research, and are especially important as society undertakes major programs for the care of older people.

Time is not the only factor contributing to aging. Although it is usually assumed that diseases more common to later life are of primary importance, it is probable that non-fatal diseases experienced in early life may also have some role in limiting the life span of the individual.

The diseases of old age, practically without exception, start during early or middle life. Proper medical care in old age must be based upon a continuing program of prevention and treatment started in early life and carried on through the middle years into old age.

Control of high blood pressure, to be effective, must be started at or even before the onset of the disease. If dietary control of atherosclerosis proves possible, it will probably require a lifelong modification of our present eating habits.

Care of society's older members is a problem faced by all countries.

The life expectancy at age 40 is only a little better—by 4 or 5 years—than it was 100 years ago. But during the first half of the present century the dangerous diseases of infancy and childhood have been largely conquered and many more people than formerly have lived to reach adulthood.

Since the average person of 40 can expect to live another 30 to 35 years, it is easy to picture the expansion of our population in the years ahead.

The numbers of older people will continue to increase tremendously. Industrialization is another factor of increasing significance. During the past hundred years the change to an industrial economy has tended to diminish employment opportunities for the older worker.

The rural economy of the 19th century could keep older people busy as long as they are able to work. But with our present emphasis on the organized production of goods, it is necessary to develop jobs that older people can handle.

A related factor in the total problem is that a number of organizations wishing to protect the living standards of older persons, have fostered the development of retirement plans, under which people are encouraged, and sometimes forced to retire from active work at specified ages.

Increasing numbers of older people will force us to attack the problems on a more organized basis than we have done in the past. But here, too, are many unanswered questions.

How can we best utilize the limited resources that are available to take care of the older age groups, medically and institutionally? How can people be psychologically prepared for growing old? How can society best utilize the services of older people, both to keep them from vegetating and to gain the goods and services they can contribute?

What are the best relationships between older people and their families, and how can these relationships be encouraged and developed? When older persons need assistance in the tasks of daily living, or actual medical care, how can such assistance and care most effectively and most efficiently be provided for them?

These are only a few questions for which answers must be sought.

With the increasing magnitude of the whole problem and of the large amounts of money that will be spent in meeting the needs of older people in the next few decades, to get answers to some of the questions, will almost certainly result in a tremendous money saving in years to come, aside from the humanitarian considerations of doing the best we can for our older people.

Research has been undertaken by the federal government to attack some of these problems. A research program was started in 1940 at the Baltimore City Hospitals by the U.S. Public Health Service. The program, now an operation of the National Heart Institute of the National Institutes of Health, is concerned with physiologic, biochemical and psychologic aspects of aging.

During the past few years the National Institute of Mental Health has also developed an extensive research program directed at neurological, mental and behavioral aspects of the problem. In addition, much of the research work being carried on by all of the National Institutes of Health has some bearing on aging.

In 1956 the President established a Federal Council on Aging to advise him on the overall aspects of the problem in areas where Federal Government activity seems appropriate. A special staff on aging has been set up in the office of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Surgeon General of the Public Health Service has assigned a staff to work with state and local health departments on aging problems.

The Center for Aging Research has been established at the National Institutes of Health to stimulate research activity by university and other groups. We are finding much interest by universities in this field.

Showing this is the fact that a new research approach to the health problems of older persons was recently launched by Duke University with a PHS research grant.

This award is the first in the Public Health Service's new program designed to encourage establishment of a few regional research centers in which several departments of a university and the health and related agencies of a community will cooperate in studying various aspects of aging.

The ideal of gerontology—the study of aging—is not to have people live forever, particularly with impaired faculties, but rather to have them live well. As a noted medical author recently phrased it: "Only through research can we achieve the prime goal of gerontology, which the Greeks indicated more than 2,000 years ago by pointing out that the art of living consists in dying young, but as late as possible."

Unexpended Balance

The national debt amounts to $273,496,000,000, the debt ceiling authorized by Congress is $275,000,000,000. As the debt increases, the value of the dollar is bound to decrease.

Our people tend to ignore the relationship of the debt to the value of the dollar because to a sufficient degree our manufatures have been able to compensate for it. On the other hand, it is becoming clear even to Washington bureaucrats that taxes cannot be overtly raised without risking political and social disturbances.

However, taxes can be raised secretly by keeping the same rate but decreasing the value of the dollar. This device has been used in recent years and is one of the many causes for the present inflation.

It is what the medieval kings did when they clipped coins around the edges, getting some silver but not permitting the coin to appear to be too small.

Approximately $70,000,000,000 has been accumulated in the Treasury under the heading of unexpended balances which gives the Administration an enormous nest egg, the legality of which could be questioned by the taxpayers.

This unexpended balance, in a measure, makes the executive branch of the government free from the constitutional power of Congress to control the purse, a power which is unquestioned. The amount accumulated could continue to grow until the executive could, for a year or more, govern altogether without authorized appropriations. This is a perilous situation from the standpoint of constitutional government.

Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia makes the point that whereas Congress appropriated $66,800,000,000 for the current fiscal year, the carry-over of unexpended balances actually places at the executive's disposal approximately $137,000,000,000, which, if the accounting system were proper and honest would be the amount of the 1957-58 budget. Or, if our system were absolutely correct, we would, this year, expend our unexpended balance for which we have already paid taxes and therefore we would not be taxed at all this year.

The expenditure of such a sum by this or any government is phenomenal and beyond necessity. Were we in an actual fighting war, it is doubtful if we would need such sums. The highest expenditure reached during World War II was $38,416,000,000 in 1945. What can be called the last peace time expenditure was in 1941, amounting to $13,262,000,000. In that year, the national debt amounted to $48,961,000,000 compared to the current $273,496,000,000.

Rev. Luther E. Markin Delaware Water Gap

It is important to note the correct amount available to the executive for expenditures during this fiscal year 1957-58, namely about $137,000,000,000. It will not be known until the year is over exactly how much has been expended, whether all of it is gone or whether the unexpended balances have been increased, giving the executive an even larger carry-over. We shall also not readily know how much was wasted and whether the waste was deliberate.

It is unfortunate that in this escapist era, the trend is not to pay too much attention to the Constitution which has managed to survive similar periods of unconcern with public questions. The Constitution definitely and unmistakably gives authority over the public purse to Congress, providing that all appropriations bills arise in the House of Representatives.

The Founding Fathers were always afraid of a powerful executive, having rebelled against a mad despotic king. It was their intention that the representatives of the people should control the Federal purse. It was never their intention that the executive should ask for more than is required and that such excessive sums accumulate until they amount to at least one year's cost of government operations.

As a matter of practicality if Congress had made no appropriations, the executive would have had enough money on hand from the unexpended balances to operate for this fiscal year—a definitely unconstitutional and dangerous condition in a free country.

The Republicans were critical of unexpended balances during the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations, but their criticisms ceased when they got into office. In fact, the unexpended balances are now larger than they ever were and without the justifiable excuse of war or depression. Apparently Senator Byrd is carrying on this fight without too encouraging assistance from either the executive or many of his colleagues in the Senate. Naturally, politicians do not want to kill Santa Claus and that is exactly what would happen if the government seriously cut its costs of operations and followed Senator Byrd's ideas of economy.

Harrisburg — Roundup of the week on Capitol Hill.
Backstage scuffle — A good sized war has been brewing (as a war can brew) on two primary fronts behind the closed doors of the Governor's Office... This is it:

(1) Who will become chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission when Lackawanna County's Joseph J. Lawler leaves his post as Secretary of Highways.

(2) Who will fill (Jo-Jo) Lawler's cigar-smoked shoes as Pennsylvania's new Secretary of Highways.

The crack-down — Many a municipality throughout the state is on the boil these days as city fathers are being drummed into their heads the hard way that the State Sanitary Water Board finally means business when it says: "get those sewage treatment plants going — or else"...

Over the years construction of the plants have been delayed and delayed... The new order of the board is "move"...

In many cases the plants are costly operations (example: Wilkes Barre: $7,000,000) and hard-pressed city old pols are in no mood for such heavy expenditures... However it is produce now or else — and the "or else" means institution by the board of mandamus proceedings in Commonwealth Court — as has already been done just as a "starter".

Adam and Evil in Hollywood
A volley of page-one rockets ignited an astounding fact: In Hollywood, men and women frequently behave like males and females. This revolutionary exposure has flabbergasted and fascinated One and All & Co. You'd think passion was invented in Movietown and sin was unknown East of the Rockies. Anyone who has read Prof. Kinsey's handy guide to boudoirs would be aware that the baser emotions are rather commonplace. Immorality is prevalent in every community. As a matter of historical accuracy, it should be noted that the foregoing has existed since Adam tasted the apple. Actually, the difference between Hollywood and other places is that Celluloidia is under relentless scrutiny of the spotlight. And the spotlight generally magnifies—and burns. In other words, the movie colony is not Satanville. The devil here, however, has a press agent.

Hollywood is like Kokomo—only different. Some of its emotional problems are unique. Cosmopolitan mag. several issues ago, explained the difference by quoting one of the leading head-thinkers in Beverly Hills. Last week a young man I've been treating came to my office saying, 'I've decided to leave my wife.' He had been making a picture with a younger woman, and the script required them to perform in several passionate scenes. He lost his perspective. He convinced himself that these physical acts symbolized an inner devotion. 'Wait a little,' I told him. A week after the picture was completed, he had forgotten the girl.' Strangely, those who manufacture dreams are occasionally enslaved by their own illusions.

The dream-makers are currently haunted by a front-page nightmare. Consequently, panic is rife in the industry. Hollywood has always reacted to such problems with more hysteria than logic. The truth is that the film industry's jitters have no basis in reality of common-sense. Inferior morals will not damage Hollywood as much as inferior movies... There is much evidence to buttress the foregoing conclusion. The most striking illustration involves Marilyn Monroe. Her studio was frantic when it learned that a reporter had discovered her nude calendar photo. As Miss Monroe describes the incident: "When the studio first heard about the nude calendar everybody was in a frenzy. They phoned me and screamed: 'Deny everything!'"

Miss Monroe refused to be panic-stricken or evasive. She candidly confessed. Result: The Portrait of Eve was a major factor in making her a star.

There are other reasons for the illogic of Hollywood's panic. Obscenity is self-destructive. And, in the final analysis, reputation is a cinch to make it a bore.

Joan Crawford once wrote in a magazine that she was in love with a married man. The stunning disclosure represented a portion of her autobiography which was being published serially. A columnist who was aware of the star's romance with the married man had refrained from publishing it. Nevertheless, Miss Crawford made the confession in public in the respectable Woman's Home Companion.

Several months ago Time mag. (which has often expressed horror about the publication of scandal and the public indulgence of skeleton-rattling) published some of the sordid details of Marilyn Monroe's background. Only different. Some of its emotional problems are unique. Cosmopolitan mag. several issues ago, explained the difference by quoting one of the leading head-thinkers in Beverly Hills. To wit: "It is very difficult for an actor playing a love scene with another to know where fantasy leaves off and reality begins. Last week a young man I've been treating came to my office saying, 'I've decided to leave my wife.' He had been making a picture with a younger woman, and the script required them to perform in several passionate scenes. He lost his perspective. He convinced himself that these physical acts symbolized an inner devotion. 'Wait a little,' I told him. A week after the picture was completed, he had forgotten the girl.' Strangely, those who manufacture dreams are occasionally enslaved by their own illusions.

Escapees Abandon Stolen Car

TAMAQUA—The search for three escapees from the Carbon County Jail centered in the Haddock area last night after State Police recovered a stolen car, which they said the trio had used.

Nightfall forced troopers to discontinue their search for Gerald Pohida, 22, McAdoo; William Minnick, 21, Allentown; and John Opolonik, 35, of Palmerton, who scaled a wall at the jail early Wednesday evening.

Nesquehoning

Police said the car in which the three came to this area was stolen from in front of the residence of its owner, Jerome Vail, 250 W. High St. Nesquehoning, yesterday morning.

Pohida was serving 23 months on a larceny charge; Minnick was jailed Sept. 13 for 15 days on a drunk and disorderly charge, and Opolonik was serving a year's sentence on an assault and battery count.

All were wearing dungarees and blue work shirts at the time of their escape. They scaled the north wall of the jail with the aid of a cell block bench.

Portland Masons To Hold 100th Anniversary Banquet

PORTLAND—Portland Lodge 511, Free and Accepted Masons, will climax its 100th anniversary celebration today with a banquet and an official visit by Charles H. Nisch, right worshipful grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania.

Nisch and his full staff will attend a meeting of the lodge at the Masonic Temple at 2 p. m. and then proceed to the First Hall for the ceremonial banquet starting at 7 p. m.

Present officers of the lodge are: Robert G. Borel, worshipful master; George L. Randolph, senior warden; Stephen A. Kish, junior warden; Clayton E. Horton, treasurer; and Walter E. Emery, secretary.

Lodge 511 was constituted Sept. 7, 1857 with William McMiller as the first worshipful master. The first meeting place was on the third floor of the old Hagerman home in Mount Bethel. Later it was moved to what is now the Odd Fellows Building in Mount Bethel and then to the present Masonic Temple on Pennsylvania Ave.

In its early life it was known as the Moon Lodge, because the meetings were held on moonlight nights to make traveling easier since there were no street lights.

Bangor Masonic Lodge was sponsored by the Portland Lodge. Prior to that, Masons from the Bangor area would come to the meetings in Mount Bethel in a chartered passenger car on the Bangor and Portland branch of the Lackawanna Railroad. They would park the car at the Mount Bethel station until the meeting was over and then journey home in the car.

Stock Market Shows Decline

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—The stock market worried through most of the day slightly under the previous close and then turned definitely downward in the last hour today.

The Associated Press average of 50 stocks dropped 1.00 to 372.25 with the industrials down 1.40 and rails down 1.40 and utilities up 1/2 cents. Based on the average, the quoted value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange fell an estimated $1,240,000,000.

Of 1960 issues traded 258 advanced and 570 declined. There were 13 new highs for the year and 46 new lows.

Two Men See 'Object'

JAMES Counterman and Walter Denney, of Delaware Water Gap, both reported seeing a "strange object" in the sky last night.

The object was spotted about 10:30 and could be seen for about 10 minutes.

Denney reported the object had a sphere shaped tail extending from the back of it. The "saucer" was moving in a southerly direction and came from the east.

Nine Toll Collectors Suspended

MORRISVILLE, Pa., Sept. 19 (P)—Seven toll collectors on the Morrisville-Trenton, N. J., bridge were suspended today by the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission on charges of pocketing receipts.

George L. Feaster, executive director of the commission, told a news conference two other collectors, one on the Morrisville bridge and one at the Delaware Water Gap Bridge, were suspended on similar charges last month.

The full amount of the alleged thefts has not been determined, he said, but added that it was a "sizeable amount."

Others
Feaster said he expects other collectors to be involved in the probe, which is continuing.

The formal charge against the collectors is "irregularity and manipulation of funds." The charges will be brought before the full commission next Thursday, Feaster said, for possible criminal action and final dismissal.

The seven collectors suspended today are Gordon B. Carr, Hightstown, N. J.; Francis R. Cooney, Trenton; Leon N. Dillon, New Hope; Donald Z. Moore, Trenton; William J. Schaefer, Morrisville; Richard W. Taylor, Trenton and Teddy J. Winter, Ewing Township, N. J.

The two suspended last month are Miss Carol E. Brown, Trenton, and John J. Boushelli, 79 W. Broad St., East Stroudsburg.

Feaster said the alleged manipulations apparently dated from the opening of the Morrisville bridge in December, 1953. The span carries U. S. Route 1 over the Delaware River.

Cooperative
He said the suspended toll collectors were cooperative and admitted keeping receipts, but only in small amounts.

"We intend to pursue this inquiry, but our employees who are doing an honest and efficient job will have nothing to fear," Feaster said.

There are 72 collectors on the commission's five bridges he said. All of those suspended today, except for Winter, get a $4,380-a-year salary, Feaster said. Winter, he said, gets $4,200.

Feaster said the probe resulted from a general reorganization of the commission after it was rocked by scandal charges last year.

Just Between Us—

—By Bobby Westbrook

Maybe those white CD helmets aren't as becoming as your new Fall hat, but they sure look like halos when you really need them. Ask any of the flood victims seeking shelter how they looked looking out of the rain that frantic night.

More important than how they look is what they cover—and that's a knowledge of what to do when. One of the most tragic experiences is to discover when you want to help with all your heart—that because you haven't been trained you're more of a nuisance than a help.

All of which is leading up to the question "What are you doing about Civil Defense?" Catherine Miller thought maybe this column might reach the women they need so much in the local set-up. But already 70 percent of the CD volunteers are women. Maybe this should be a family affair.

In fact, among the bewildering array of pamphlets, folders, cards and what-not that the Civil Defense has available for the asking, the one I liked best was the one on Home Protection Exercises, subtitled, "A Family Action

Program."

One reason, I suppose, is that there are so many suggestions in it that would come in handy in many a personal domestic crisis. It wouldn't take a national emergency or even a full-scale local disaster, for instance, to make a lot of the information useful.

Any of the family can suffer a fall, a cut or a burn that would make a knowledge of emergency first aid the most important thing you ever learned.

A winter ice storm, or a high wind can cut off the electricity for varying periods and a knowledge of emergency sanitation and a well-stocked emergency pantry can come in mighty handy.

Nope, I'm not urging women to join Civil Defense—but it is the woman who's going to have to inaugurate a protection plan for her own household if there's going to be one, and if in the process she also becomes a valuable asset to her community, she'll want to put that skill to work. Anyway you can find out all about it by dropping in at Room 7 in the Court House.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Samuel Heeter (Stroudsburg Photoshops)

Mary Ann Bosman Is Bride Of Chester S. Heeter

Miss Mary Ann Bosman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Bosman, of 102 Smith St., East Stroudsburg, became the bride of Chester Samuel Heeter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heeter, East Stroudsburg RD 2, at 11 o'clock on Saturday morning before the double-ring nuptial rite was performed by Rev. William F. Wunder in the presence of a large congregation of friends and relatives. Miss Elizabeth Klerim was soprano soloist. She sang "Through the Years" and "O Promise Me" prior to the ceremony. She sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt before the altar on a white satin pillow.

The altar and chancel were decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and potted palms. Miss Leila Bunnell presided at the console and played a medley of nuptial arias.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace over satin. It featured a scalloped portrait neckline and long tapered sleeves, with a skirt of nylon net with lace inserts over satin. Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara of seed pearls, sequins and rhinestones. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid and streamers caught with baby's breath.

Mrs. Betty Marsh, of Solata, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown in yellow with matching headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of roses and pompons. Lester Marsh was best man. Edward A. Heeter and Robert C. Heeter ushered while Clyde Heckman was the acolyte.

The bride's mother wore a street-length dress of hyacinth blue crepe and matching hat, with black accessories. Her corsage was of white roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a street-length dress of blue imported silk with black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

A reception was held in the Knotty Pine Room of Towne Tavern for 75 guests. A buffet dinner was served and a four-tiered wedding cake formed the centerpiece.

The bride is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School in the class of 1955. She is employed by the Bell Telephone Co. Mr. Heeter was graduated from East Stroudsburg High School in the class of 1952. He served for two years in the U. S. Army and is employed by Russell C. Albert, electrical contractor, East Stroudsburg RD 2.

For her going-away costume, the bride chose a black silk sheath dress with a large white collar, black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Upon their return from a honeymoon in Niagara Falls and New England, they will be at home to their friends in their apartment at 88 Smith St., East Stroudsburg.

Among the unusual flowers were native chestnuts, new varieties of columb and cockscomb, marigolds and zinnias. Bells of Ireland is a new flower which showed a gain in favor. Also exhibited were dahlias and coleus, both grown from seed.

Mrs. Frank Fuller was co-chairman of the committee which also included Miss Ida Bennett, Mrs. William Howell, Miss Jeannette MacLeod and Mrs. Thomas Shoemith.

Two Parties In One Day At Staples Home

Del. Water Gap — Mr. and Mrs. James Staples of Walnut Lane had a busy day Saturday with a birthday party for their children in the afternoon and a farewell party for friends at night.

A circus party was held for Joseph Staples who was three that day and for his sister, Gale, who was two this Thursday. Guests were Bobby Kulp, and Kim, Rae and Melvin Walter of Shawnee, Craig and Beverly Fish of East Stroudsburg RD, Donna and Elsa Del Campo of Water Gap and Ricky, Scott and Bruce Foley of Stroudsburg. Mothers present were Mrs. Emmett Fish, Mrs. Elwood Walter, Mrs. Abram Kulp, Mrs. Grant Foley and Mrs. Anthony Del Campo.

Pony Rides
Two ponies gave the children real circus thrills. The birthday cake was decorated by a miniature tent, the ice cream in animal shapes. A new pet dog for Joseph added to the party. The Staples children are descendants of Joseph Smith, founder of Mormonism. Their grandmother was a Mormon until she married a Presbyterian. They are also direct descendants of James Summerfield Staples, who was the substitute for Abraham Lincoln in the Civil War.

Farewell Party
At night Mr. and Mrs. Staples entertained in farewell for Mr. and Mrs. George Carson of Stroudsburg who soon move to Birmingham, Detroit, Mich. where Mr. Carson has received a position with a subsidiary of the Jacobson Mower Company. Mr. Carson leaves in a week or so to find an apartment and Mrs. Carson will fly out two weeks later.

Guests at the farewell party were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Del Campo of Water Gap; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Townsend, of East Stroudsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edinger Jr., of Stroudsburg.

IRON FIREMAN SelectTemp HEATING

gives any temperature you want in each room

Here's a revolutionary Iron Fireman development in heating for buildings and homes! It's so simple, so practical, and brings such a new standard in indoor comfort, that many ask, "Why didn't someone invent SelectTemp years ago?" SelectTemp accomplishes what heating engineers for years have tried to do. It provides a sensitive, dependable system of temperature control for each room, plus greater comfort and economy than any other heating system known.

A thermostat in every room, plus many other advantages

Modulated heat. Both temperature and air volume automatically modulated to offset heat losses and gains.

Low initial cost. For modernization and new construction. Small copper tubing, corrosion resistant and with long life, carries steam to individual room heater units. Boiler can be located anywhere desired.

Less fuel costs. Temperature easily reduced in unused rooms; overheating eliminated. Fuel: gas, oil, coal, or district steam.

Lower power costs. Low pressure steam provides heat and also operates circulating fans. Non-electric thermostats. No wiring.

Filtered deaerated air. Replaceable filter in each room unit.

Automatically balanced. System automatically compensates, in each room, for changes in outdoor temperature, sun or fireplace heat.

For every size and type of building — Apartment Houses, Hotels, Motels, Schools, Churches, Office Buildings, Institutions, Hospitals. Ideal both for new construction and modernization.

Megargel Attending Conference

MILO A. Megargel, Canadensis, Pa., local Zone Manager for Investors Diversified Services, Inc., is attending a regional four-day sales conference of the company at the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C. The conference ends on Sunday. Megargel has been connected with IDS for four years.

W. B. Boscow, Eastern Sales Manager, is presiding at the conference. Grady Clark, IDS Vice President-Sales, M. D. Campbell, General Sales Manager, and J. W. Callender, Director-Customer Relations, all from the home office in Minneapolis, will take part in discussions concerning the many investment securities and services offered by the company. Included will be talks on the recently announced Investors Variable Payment Fund, Inc. and Investors Syndicate Life Insurance and Annuity Co., which have been added to the Investors Group of companies managed by IDS. Investors Diversified Services, Inc., in business for 63 years, now has assets under management in excess of $2 billion and services more than 800,000 customer accounts.

GOOD news for homemakers is an entirely new type of vacuum cleaner with the compact and lightweight convenience of a portable typewriter, yet with full cleaning power.

The cleaner, weighing only 13 and one-half pounds, weighs 22 percent less than similar conventional models. Set upright, it takes less than a square foot of floor space, making it a natural for stair cleaning. The unit stores away easily, even under a bed or on a shelf—a new convenience especially for the apartment dweller.

Powered by a three-quarter horsepower motor, the new Kenmore cleaner combines complete cleaning and dusting action with its clean, compact styling.

The cleaner was developed by Sears, Roebuck and Co. after extensive research among homemakers revealed that their chief complaint against cleaners was that most present models are heavy and cumbersome, difficult to use and to store.

With a low center of gravity, the cleaner rolls easily on non-marring wheels without tipping or swaying. A carrying handle, coupled with the light weight make it easy to use even outdoors for cleaning porch furniture or car upholstery.

The Kenmore cleaner comes complete with seven attachments and a storage rack for the attachments. Included is a 2-in-1 nozzle for cleaning both rugs and floors without changing nozzles. A cord "stowaway" is on the bottom of the cleaner.

The new line of cleaners, currently being introduced by Sears, is available in a choice of three models.

YOUNGSTOWN Industries will have the formal opening and dedication ceremonies of its new plant at 11200 Roosevelt Boulevard, Philadelphia, at 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21.

The new building comprises 40,000 square feet on three acres of ground and was built at a cost exceeding a half million dollars. It houses about 200 regular employees.

Youngstown Industries specializes in the manufacture of aluminum specialties for the home. Carl Mickelson is president.

LEON KEIPER, Long Pond, has completed work on a new spillway at Ramot Lakes, Pocono Summit, which should raise the water level almost three feet back to original height.

The old spillway was washed out during the floods that devastated the county.

The heavy drought has had little effect on this attractive lake, which has retained most of the water supplied by ever-flowing springs, even though it is located at one of the highest points in the Poconos.

East Stroudsburg High Opens At Home Today

Kist's Cavaliers Will Host Slatington In Lid-Lifter

EAST STROUDSBURG HIGH will usher in the 1957 football season at home today, entertaining Slatington under the lights at Memorial Stadium. Kick-off time is 8 p.m.

The Cavaliers of Jack Kist ended pre-season workouts yesterday with a light workout at Memorial, stressing punting and kicking specialties and signal drills.

Kist named his starting lineup for the Slatington inaugural. Opening at ends will be Bob Stine and Wes Werkheiser; Doug Smith and Foster Ladlee at the tackle spots; Denny Patti and Co-Captain Horace Cole will man the guard posts; and Tom Long will open at center.

In the backfield will be Charley Lupin, quarterback; "Corky" Smith, Co-Captain Roger Ray and Phil Simon alternating at the halfback slots; and Don Miller will be back at his familiar fullback berth.

Only Smith and Cole saw a lot of line duty for the Cavaliers last year, while backs Ray, Lupin, Simon, Smith and Miller worked their way in consistently in '56.

No. Two Unit Eastburg also is set with a No. Two eleven that has shown promise in the earlier practice sessions. It is composed of Ray, Uhl, Pete Treible and Tom Wagner, ends; Joe Kolen and Bill Hillman, guard Larry Stettler; and Tom Joe Steele, center.

The second-string backfield has Bob Herman, quarterback; halfbacks Frank Gimble and John Hindman; and Vic Agajin, fullback. Slatington, still riding high after its 40-point victory over Coplay in its opener last Saturday, reportedly have one of the fastest sets of backs in the area. In Don Rauch, the Slaters own a shifty runner who is tabbed one of the better schoolboy threats in the valley.

Lowly Cubs Out To Halt Braves March

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP)—The lowly Chicago Cubs, who have played the Milwaukee Braves to a virtual standoff this season, are eager to derail the Braves' pennant stretch drive this week.

Cub Manager Bob Schefling will hurl his three top pitchers, Bob Rush (6-15), Moe Drabowsky (11-14) and Dick Drott (15-11), against the Braves who invade Wrigley Field tomorrow for a three-game series.

"I'd give anything to win three from the Braves," said Schefling, whose Cubs have a 5-10 record against first-place Milwaukee this season.

To show Chicago's impartiality as a potential spoiler, however, Schefling added: "I'd like to win three straight from the St. Louis Cardinals, too."

The Cubs close out the season against the Cardinals at St. Louis, Sept. 27, 28 and 29. It was only last month the Cubs nearly chilled St. Louis for keeps, winning six straight from the Cards. The Cubs also stand 5-10 against St. Louis.

Manager Fred Haney of the Braves was fretting over the possible loss of three players for the start of the Cup series. Third baseman Ed Mathews has a case of flu. Outfielder Wes Covington has an infected throat. Bob Hartz, brilliant rookie outfielder, has ailing right shoulder which hinders his throwing.

Haney, however, seemed in an optimistic frame of mind. "With the breaks, we can go back to Milwaukee still holding a four-game lead, and I'll be satisfied with that," he said.

EMMAUS over Quakertown—The Green Hornets will make the second win just as pronounced as its easy verdict over Muhlenberg Twp. last week.

CATAWAUGA over Coplay—The Wildcats were no match for Slatington last Saturday and should provide little or no opposition for Catty this weekend.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J. over Pen Argyl—Hackettstown is perennially one of the Garden State's top scholastic teams. Pen Argyl, lost about everything via graduation. It's a tough way for the Green Wave to open a season.

WHITEHALL over Muhlenberg Twp.—The Zephyrs are not as good as '56's representatives but are still better than Muhlenberg.

OTHER GAMES — High and mighty NAZARETH over Hellerstown, and HAZLETON over Allentown Central Catholic.

'Old Pros' Lead NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. — A couple of "old pros," Al Dewbury and Arnie Kullman, are showing the way to their team mates as the Hershey Bears prepare their first pre-season clash with the Chicago Blackhawks at St. Catharines on Saturday night.

Anthony Lone Vet End At Susquehanna

SELINGROVE—Coach Henry J. "Whitely" Kell, of Susquehanna University's football squad, is hopeful that 16 new arrivals will give him the needed bench strength to round out a season that will be even better than last year's 4-3 record.

Heading the list of returning lettermen are co-captains Dick Purnell of Ashland, Pa., and Walt Benham of Philadelphia. The search for ends started as soon as Kell had a chance to look over his new material.

With only one and returning, in the person of Jack Anthony, Kell must rely on newcomers Ed Jones of Bristol, Pa., George Moore of Ashland, Pa., and Allen Nace of Selingrove. Joe Ominchak, a junior from Morea, Pa., is also trying out for an end position for the first time.

Marvin Candidate Another East Stroudsburg High player of two years ago, Danny Marvin—is an aspirant for a tackle position.

The Crusaders on Tuesday, journeyed to Wilkes-Barre where they held a scrimmage with the Colonels of Wilkes College. Kell was not too happy with the outcome, but is now satisfied that he knows where the weak spots are. He has two weeks to work hard with the boys before the opener with Ursinus College on Oct. 5.

Torpid Wins 'Brown Jug'

DELAWARE, Ohio, Sept. 19 (AP)—Storming through the dust from fifth place, sensational Torpid today won the 12th annual $75,528 Little Brown Jug for 3-year-old pacers by taking the rain-delayed third heat at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

The bay son of Knight Dream took the two-division elastic in straight one mile heats, winning the first in 2:03.4 and the deciding one in 2:03.2.

Meadowlands, driven by Del Miller, won the second division heat in 2:03 with the five leaders in each division coming back for the payoff point.

Johnny Simpson, driver of Torpid, became the first ever to win the elusive in successive years and the second ever to capture the Hambletonian trophy and the Jug the same season. He won the 1956 race with Noble Adios and this year's Hambletonian with Fletcher Smoke.

Today's victory added $27,306.41 to Torpid's two-year earnings which have now reached $182,793.41 in 30 heats, the fastest-earning colt has won 58 times, losing three to Adios Simpson, who finished fifth and second in today's two heats for fourth place in the overall picture.

Central—in the huge Western Conference, covering most of the country east of the border-blanking WPAL, Tyrone and Lewisville still rule as the teams to watch.

Tyrone should have little difficulty Friday night with Northern Cambria, while Lewisville could run into difficulty against Bellefonte, but is expected to win.

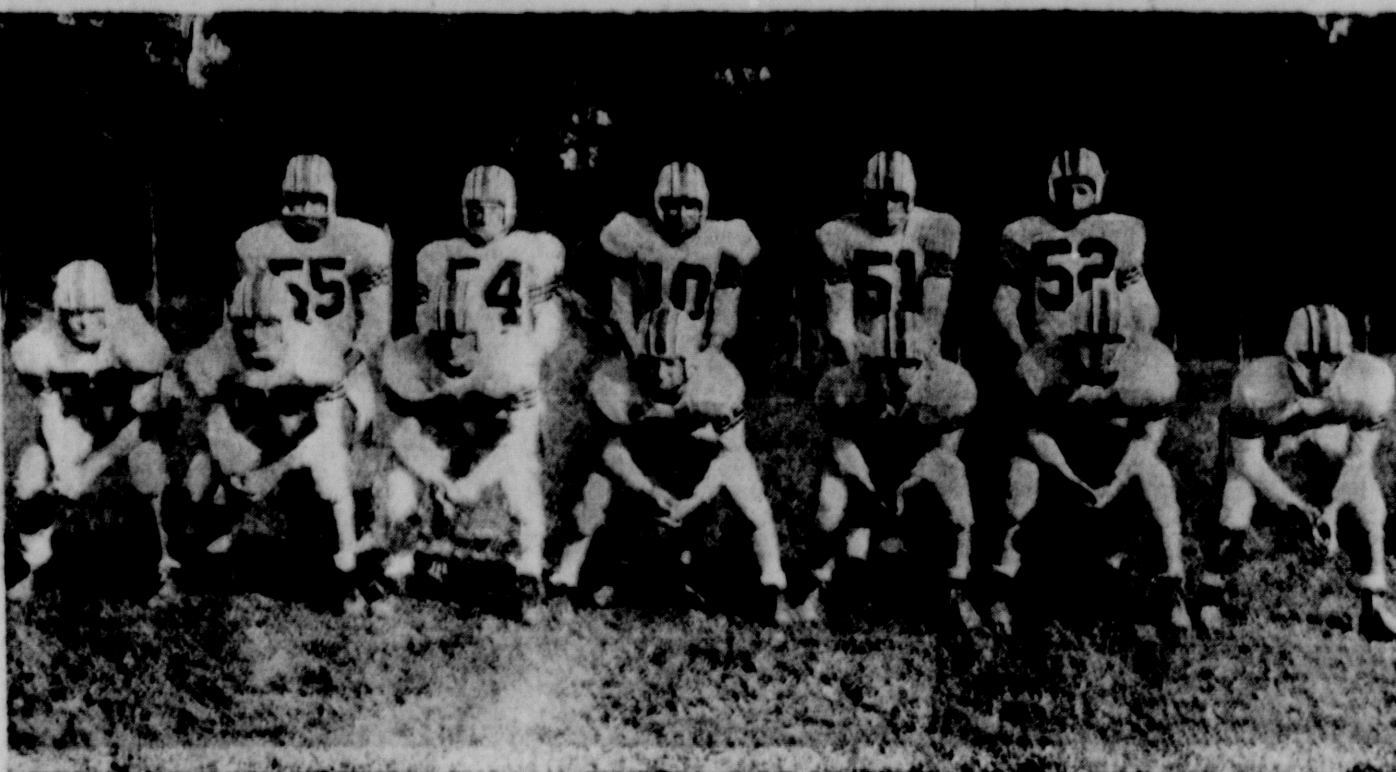

Meanwhile, the Central and South Penn. Leagues swing into loop action for the year. In the Central Penn. defending champion Williamsport is expected to take Steelton, but the Little Steamrollers are always capable of a surprise upset.

100-Mile Race Set For Trenton TRENTON, N. J. — One of America's most colorful speedway events, the 100-mile national championship midget auto race, will officially open the New Jersey State Fair Sunday (Sept. 22).

Winners of every major race in the country this year have filed entries for the USAC-ARDC sanctioned marathon on the one-mile, paved speedway built this year at a cost of $500,000.

Bid To Stop Giants Adjourned NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Hearing on a motion for an order to restrain the New York Giants from moving to San Francisco was adjourned today before Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Aurilio until Sept. 24.

The suit was brought by Julius November, an attorney who holds stock in the club.

CAVALIERS' PROBABLE STARTING LINEUP—East Stroudsburg High's tentative opening lineup for today's inaugural with Slatington at Memorial Stadium line up prior to yesterday's light workout. On the line, left to right, are Wes Werkheiser, Doug Smith, Co-Captain Horace Cole, Tom Long, Denny Patti, Foster Ladlee and Bob Stine. The backs—five in all and four—because Coach Jack Kist will be switching halfbacks—are left to right, Co-Captain Roger Ray, Phil Simon, Charley Lupin, "Corky" Smith and Don Miller. ## Traditional Foes To Clash On State Scholastic Front

HARRISBURG, Sept. 19 (AP)—Traditional rivalries renew this week for most of Pennsylvania's more than 800 scholastic football teams.

While a majority of the Commonwealth's 50,000 schoolboy griders saw action in non-league league games last weekend, regular league competition may be said to start with this Saturday's games.

The card will see the major teams of the southeastern region in action for the first time. In the far west the powers of the sprawling WPAL inaugurate large scale activity. Only a pair of the three dozen double-A schools faced off last week.

But in both of those two important regions defending champions will delay their openings against home loop competitors for a week or two.

Opens Oct. 5 Lower Merion, sporting one of the longest win streaks of any major school in the state will not see action in the Suburban One League until Oct. 5.

Jeanette, defending champion of the WPAL double-A schools, faces Pittsburgh's Schenley high Friday, but will not face WPAL double-A action until Oct. 4.

But powers will be in action elsewhere this weekend. Here's the picture by regions:

West—Jeanette should have no trouble against Schenley, but even an upset loss would not affect the defending WPAL king's chances in its home conference. Only a loss or tie to a league school eliminates a WPAL team from competition for the title.

Sharon, a prime threat for the circuit pennant, goes after its 12th victory Friday against Beaver Falls in a league clash. The Mercer County club should be an easy winner.

Other prime WPAL-AA clashes this weekend will see Butler at Ellwood City; Brownsville at Red Sticks; Greensburg at Donora; Monaca at Monaca; New Castle at Ambridge; and Washington at Conestoga.

Northwest In the West, 11 League of northwestern dist. 10, defending champion Corry, which had a 9-0 record last year, plays at Oil City tomorrow night. Titusville, a threat for the crown after dumping Oil City last weekend, clashes with Millersburg and should add another victory to its string.

Central—in the huge Western Conference, covering most of the country east of the border-blanking WPAL, Tyrone and Lewisville still rule as the teams to watch.

Tyrone should have little difficulty Friday night with Northern Cambria, while Lewisville could run into difficulty against Bellefonte, but is expected to win.

Meanwhile, the Central and South Penn. Leagues swing into loop action for the year. In the Central Penn. defending champion Williamsport is expected to take Steelton, but the Little Steamrollers are always capable of a surprise upset.

Last-Ditch Meeting Slated To Stop Brooklyn's Move

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Board of Estimate, presumably New York's only hope to keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn, was reported strongly opposed today to millionaire Nelson A. Rockefeller's plan of financial assistance to Dodger boss Walter O'Malley.

Details of the Rockefeller proposal, confirming earlier speculation of the offer, were made public in the wake of another "no announcement" meeting of the 8-member board comprised of the city's top officials.

Despite the negative attitude, another last-ditch meeting was scheduled for tomorrow.

Called for the purpose of discussing today's action of the board, it is almost certain to mark the time at which O'Malley is told officially that the Rockefeller plan is unacceptable.

Two Dodger officials — Harry Walsh, club attorney, and Sylvan Oestreicher, a member of the board of directors — arrived in Los Angeles today to discuss the latest proposal endorsed by the Los Angeles City Council early this week. This The Associated Press learned today.

It is expected that a final agreement will be reached which will result in the Dodger franchise being shifted to Los Angeles.

Likes Offer O'Malley yesterday informed New York City Mayor Robert Wagner that the Los Angeles offer is "very fair and attractive" and "worthy of consideration."

The Los Angeles bid offered land, money and oil and mineral rights to O'Malley if he would bring his team to the California city.

"If I had to bet," the Associated Press informant said, "I'd bet that the Dodgers will go to Los Angeles."

The plain truth is that O'Malley does not expect the Board of Estimate to approve the plan offered by millionaire Nelson A. Rockefeller yesterday whereby he would lend financial aid to the city and to O'Malley in the Dodgers' efforts to get land in downtown Brooklyn on which to build a new stadium.

24 Hour Limit "The board has had 24 hours to consider the proposal," the informant said, "and so far it has done nothing. O'Malley is tired and fed up with this kind of vacillating. It's a simple thing. All the board has to do is vote yes or no but it doesn't seem able to do either."

The informant then added an ominous note. "Even if New York City was now to finally come through with a firm offer," he said, "I'm afraid it might come too late. The Board of Estimate's approval of the Rockefeller plan does not necessarily mean that O'Malley is going to accept it."

Archery Club Holds Open Shoot Sunday

POCONO Archery Club will hold an open 28-target Handicap Tournament at the organization's range, West Main St., Stroudsburg, Sunday.

Registrations will be open until 1 p.m., Sunday. The shoot is scheduled to get under way at 1:30 p.m.

A 14-hunter round and a 14-animal round will be the feature of the day.

Competition in the junior class also will highlight the program.

Entries from clubs in New Jersey, Reading, Emmaus and local bow and arrow fans will compete for the top awards.

Top prizes—three—will be presented to the top three marksmen.

Refreshments will be served on the grounds.

Basilio Ends Heavy Drills

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Three rounds of boxing ended heavy drills today for Carmen Basilio and boosted his sparring total to 102 rounds.

Basilio, who will meet Ray Robinson Monday in Yankee Stadium for the world's middleweight title, employed a circling maneuver in exchanging blows with Leo Owens, his sparring partner.

Out of Range The style, which sent Basilio whirling to his opponent's right, apparently has been adopted to keep the welterweight champion out of range of Robinson's left hand hook.

Light drills were scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday. He will leave here after workouts Saturday for New York.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
